

THE EAST MIDLAND
GEOGRAPHER

INDEX TO VOLUME 7
NUMBERS 49-56
1978-1981

A

Airfields

- The changing distribution of military airfields
in the East Midlands 1914-1980 286-302

Agriculture

- Permanent grass in Leicestershire: the decline of a traditional land use and its role in the .. farming system 272-278

- The landlord and agricultural improvements:
underdraining on the Lincolnshire estate of the Earls of Scarbrough in the first half of the nineteenth century.. .. 168-177

- The open-field village of Laxton (see entries under Laxton)

Aranuvachapun, S. and Brimblecombe, P.

- Observations of turbid water in the Dowsing region of the North Sea 123-127

Archaeology

- Nene valley archaeology 89

Assisted Areas of the East Midlands 113-122

B

Beach sand movement on a part of the Lincolnshire coast: a review of some results from recent

- tracer experiments 64-72

Bell, M. and Herington, J.

- Local patterns of household movement:
preliminary findings from an investigation
in the Charnwood District of Leicestershire .. 204-213

Blake, R. N. E.,

- The changing distribution of military airfields in the East Midlands, 1914-1980 .. 286-302

Book Reviews and New Journals

- Beastall, T. W., The agricultural revolution in Lincolnshire. 280-281

- Coates, K. and Silburn, R., Beyond the bulldozer 282-283

- Henstock, A. (ed.), Early Victorian country town:
a portrait of Ashbourne in the mid nineteenth century 90

- Lloyd, I., Rolls-Royce: The growth of a firm; The years of endeavour; The Merlin at war (3 vols) 279

- Owen, C. C., The development of industry in Burton upon Trent 43-44

- Robinson, D. N., The book of Louth 178

- Straw, A. and Clayton, K. M., Eastern and Central England 281

- Turnock, D. (ed.), Leicester University Geography
Department., Occasional papers 1 (Leicestershire Geographical Essays) 316

- Young, J. R. (ed.), Trent Polytechnic Geography
Division, Trent Geographer, No. 1 316

Bowler, I. R.
Permanent grass in Leicestershire: the decline of a traditional land use and its role in the farming system	272-278
Brickmaking industry
Brickmaking in Nottingham: growth, rationalisation and effects on land use	180-194
C
Cameron, A.
Laxton before 1635	219-226
Castleden, R.
The morphological implications of the Milton Sand, near Northampton	195-203
Charnwood District
Local patterns of household movement: preliminary findings from an investigation in the Charnwood District of Leicestershire	204-213
Coal
Proposed exploitation of the north-east Leicestershire (Vale of Belvoir) coalfield ..	83-88
Coalville
The development of Coalville, Leicestershire, in the nineteenth century	32-42
Coastal geomorphology
Aspects of beach sand movement on a part of the Lincolnshire coast: a review of some results from recent tracer experiments	64-72
Changes on the foreshore and the spit between 1972 and 1978 near Gibraltar Point, Lincolnshire	73-82
Nearshore sandbanks and foreshore accretion on the south Lincolnshire coast	49-63
Observations of turbid water in the Dowsing region of the North Sea from Landsat 1	123-227
Sediment analysis at Gibraltar Point, Lincolnshire	128-133
Sedimentation on the New Marsh at Gibraltar Point, Lincolnshire	153-167
D
Delano-Smith, C.
An introduction to Laxton	217-219
Laxton in 1635	226-230
Derbyshire
Periglacial valley-fill sediments at Edale, north Derbyshire	263-271
Reservoir influence on the distribution of mean grain size along a river profile: a case study from north-east Derbyshire	19-31

Dolman, N. K., and Smith, G. C.
Consumer responses to alternative retail environments in Nottingham's central area ..	303-315

Dowsing region of North Sea
Observations of turbid water in the Dowsing region of the North Sea from Landsat 1	123-127

Dugdale, R. E., Fox, H. R. and Russell, J. R.
Nearshore sandbanks and foreshore accretion on the south Lincolnshire coast	49-63

E

East Midlands
Assisted areas of the East Midlands	113-122
Industrial ablation in the East Midland footwear district	3-18
The changing distribution of military airfields on the East Midlands, 1914-1980	286-302

East Midland Geographer
Twenty five years of 'The East Midland Geographer' 1954-1979	95-99

Edale
Periglacial valley-fill sediments at Edale, north Derbyshire	263-271

F

Fluvial geomorphology
Reservoir influence on the distribution of mean grain size along a river profile: a case study from north-east Derbyshire	19-31

Footwear industry
Industrial ablation in the East Midland footwear district	3-18

Foreshore
Changes on the foreshore and the spit between 1972 and 1978 near Gibraltar Point, Lincolnshire	73-82
Nearshore sandbanks and foreshore accretion on the south Lincolnshire coast	49-63

Fox, H. R.
Aspects of beach sand movement on a part of the Lincolnshire coast: a review of some results from recent tracer experiments	64-72

Fox, H. R., Dugdale, R. E. and Russell, J. R.
Nearshore sandbanks and foreshore accretion on the south Lincolnshire coast	49-63

Freeman, T. W.
Twenty five years of 'The East Midland Geographer' 1954-1979	95-99

G

Gibraltar Point (Lincolnshire)

Aspects of beach sand movement on a part of the Lincolnshire coast: a review of some recent tracer experiments	64-72
Changes on the foreshore and spit between 1972 .. and 1978 near Gibraltar Point, Lincolnshire ..	73-82
Nearshore sandbanks and foreshore accretion on the south Lincolnshire coast	49-63
Sediment analysis at Gibraltar Point, Lincolnshire	128-133
Sedimentation on the New Marsh at Gibraltar Point Lincolnshire	153-167

Gorman, M. J.

Brickmaking in Nottingham: growth, rationalisation and effects on land use	180-194
---	---------

H

Harper, S. A.

Sedimentation on the New Marsh at Gibraltar Point, Lincolnshire	153-167
--	---------

Herington, J. and Bell, M.

Local patterns of household movement: preliminary findings from an investigation in the Charnwood District of Leicestershire	204-213
--	---------

Homan, R. and Rowley, G.

The location of institutions during the process of urban growth: a case study of churches and chapels in nineteenth-century Sheffield	137-152
---	---------

Household movement

Local patterns of household movement: preliminary findings from an investigation in the Charnwood District of Leicestershire	204-213
--	---------

I

Industry

Brickmaking in Nottingham: growth, rationalisation and effects on land-use	180-194
Proposed exploitation of the north-east Leicester- shire (Vale of Belvoir) coalfield	83-89
The diversification and decentralisation of industry in Northampton	100-112
Industrial ablation in the East Midland footwear district	3-18

K

King, C. A. M.

Changes on the foreshore and the spit between 1972 and 1978 near Gibraltar Point, Lincolnshire ..	73-82
--	-------

Knighton, A. D.

Reservoir influence on the distribution of mean grain size along a river profile: a case study from north-east Derbyshire	19-31
---	-------

L

Landsat 1

Observations of turbid water in the Dowsing region of the North Sea from Landsat 1	123-127
--	---------

Land drainage

The landlord and agricultural improvement: underdraining on the Lincolnshire estate of the Earls of Scarbrough in the first half of the nineteenth century	168-177
--	---------

Land use

Brickmaking in Nottingham, growth, rationalisation and effects on land use	180-194
Permanent grass in Leicestershire: the decline of a traditional land use and its role in the farming system	272-278

Laxton (Nottinghamshire)

An introduction to Laxton	217-219
Laxton before 1635	219-226
Laxton in 1635	226-230
Laxton in the twentieth century	231-237
Laxton - a glossary of terms	247
Relict open-field features at Laxton	238-246

Leicestershire

The development of Coalville, Leicestershire, in the nineteenth century	32-42
Local patterns of household movement: preliminary findings from an investigation in the Charnwood District of Leicestershire	204-213
Permanent grass in Leicestershire: the decline of a traditional land use and its role in the farming system	272-278
Proposed exploitation of the north-east Leicester-shire (Vale of Belvoir) coalfield	83-88

Lincolnshire

Agricultural improvements

The landlord and agricultural improvements: underdraining on the Lincolnshire estate of the Earls of Scarbrough in the first half of the nineteenth century	168-177
---	---------

Coastal geomorphology

Aspects of beach sand movement on a part of the Lincolnshire coast: a review of some results from recent tracer experiments	64-72
Changes on the foreshore and the spit between 1972 and 1978 near Gibraltar Point, Lincolnshire	73-82
Nearshore sandbanks and foreshore accretion on the south Lincolnshire coast	49-63

Sediment analysis at Gibraltar Point, Lincolnshire	128-133
Sedimentation on the New Marsh at Gibraltar Point
Lincolnshire	153-167

M

Milton Sand
The morphological implications of the Milton Sand, near Northampton	195-203
Mounfield, P. R.
Industrial ablation in the East Midland footwear district	3-18

N

Nearshore sandbanks and foreshore accretion on the south Lincolnshire coast	49-63
Nene valley archaeology	89
North Sea
Observations of turbid water in the Dowsing region of the North Sea from Landsat 1	123-127
Northampton
The diversification and decentralization of industry	100-112
Morphological implications of the Milton Sand near Northampton	195-203
Nottingham
Brickmaking in Nottingham, growth, rationalisation and effects on land use	180-194
Consumer responses to alternative retail environ- ments in Nottingham's central area	303-315
Transport policy in Nottingham 1970-1980 with special reference to the zone-and-collar experiment	250-262

O

Open-field village of Laxton (see entries under Laxton)

P

Periglacial geomorphology
Morphological implications of the Milton Sand, near Northampton	195-203
Periglacial valley-fill sediments at Edale, north Derbyshire	263-271
Permanent grass in Leicestershire: the decline of a traditional land use and its role in the farming system.	272-278
Phillips, A. D. M.
The landlord and agricultural improvements: underdraining on the Lincolnshire estate of the Earls of Scarborough in the first half of the nineteenth century	168-177

Psilovikos, A. A.
Sediment analysis at Gibraltar Point, Lincolnshire	128-133
R
Reservoir influence on the distribution of mean grain size along a river profile: a case study from north-east Derbyshire	19-31
Retailing
Consumer responses to alternative retail environments in Nottingham's central area ..	305-315
Roberts, J. M.
The diversification and decentralization of industry in Northampton	100-112
Rowley, G. and Homan, R.
The location of institutions during the process of urban growth: a case study of churches and chapels in nineteenth century Sheffield. ..	137-152
Royle, S. A.
The development of Coalville, Leicestershire, in the nineteenth century	32-42
Russell, J. R., Dugdale, R. E. and Fox, H. R.
Nearshore sandbanks and foreshore accretion on the south Lincolnshire coast	49-63
S
Salt-marsh
Sedimentation on the New Marsh at Gibraltar Point, Lincolnshire	153-167
Sedimentation
Coastal
Nearshore sandbanks and foreshore accretion on the south Lincolnshire coast	49-63
Sedimentation on the New Marsh at Gibraltar Point, Lincolnshire	153-167
River
Reservoir influence on the distribution of mean grain size along a river profile: a case study from north-east Derbyshire ..	19-31
Sediment
Morphological implications of the Milton Sand, near Northampton	195-203
Periglacial valley-fill sediments at Edale, north Derbyshire	263-271
Sediment analysis at Gibraltar Point, Lincolnshire	128-133

Sediment movement

- Aspects of beach sand movement on a part of the Lincolnshire coast. 64-72
- Changes on the foreshore and the spit between 1972 and 1978 near Gibraltar Point, Lincolnshire 73-82

Sheffield

- The location of institutions during the process of urban growth: a case study of churches and chapels in nineteenth-century Sheffield 137-152

Smith, D. J.

- The Assisted Areas of the East Midlands 113-122

Smith, G. C. and Dolman, N. K.

- Consumer responses to alternative retail environments in Nottingham's central area 303-315

Suspended sediment

- Observations of turbid water in the Dowsing region of the North Sea from Landsat 1 123-127

T

Tracer experiments

- Aspects of beach sand movement on a part of the Lincolnshire coast: a review of some results from recent tracer experiments 64-72

Transport policy in Nottingham 1970-80, with special

- reference to the zone-and-collar experiment 250-262

U

Upex, S. G. and Wood, B. A.

- Relict open-field features at Laxton 238-246

Urban development

- The development of Coalville, Leicestershire, in the nineteenth century 32-42
- The location of institutions during the process of urban growth: a case study of churches and chapels in nineteenth-century Sheffield 137-152

V

Vale of Belvoir

- Proposed exploitation of the north-east Leicestershire (Vale of Belvoir) coalfield 83-88

W

Wilson, P.

- Periglacial valley-fill sediments at Edale, north Derbyshire 263-271

B

Wood, B. A.

Laxton in the twentieth century 231-237

Wood, B. A. and Upex, S. G.

Relict open-field features at Laxton 238-246

Y

Young, J. R.

Transport policy in Nottingham, 1970-1980, with special reference to the zone-and-collar

experiment 250-262

Z

Zone-and-collar experiment

Transport policy in Nottingham 1970-1980, with special reference to the zone-and-collar

experiment 250-262

